SUMMARY

- This project assesses how well marketing campaigns connect with users—from inbox to website.
- The insights reveal how many people received, opened, and clicked emails, and how they behaved on our site afterward.
- It integrates KPIs from both email and web platforms to uncover actionable insights that support continuous improvement, audience targeting, and strategic alignment.
- The goal is to refine what works and fix what doesn't.

OBJECTIVE

- Deliver a multi-channel performance snapshot using standardized KPIs
- Deconstruct campaign-level engagement for benchmarking
- Track how content influences engagement across devices
- Highlight high-performing campaigns for future replication
- Provide data-backed recommendations for resource optimization

KPI LIST

- Email Delivery Rate (%)
- Open Rate (%)
- Click-Through Rate (CTR) (%)
- Campaign Engagement Rate (%)
- Top Performing Campaigns
- Average Activity Per Email
- Activity Breakdown by Type
- Email Sent vs Activity Timeline
- Total unique visitors
- Average bounce rate (%)
- Average session duration
- Traffic source breakdown
- Device usage share
- Top 5 regions by unique visitors
- Engagement by date (time series)

CHALLENGES

❖ Data Quality & Preparation

- Incomplete or duplicated activity logs
- Inconsistent date/time formats
- Missing campaign metadata
- Key fields like Campaign_ID or Email_ID were absent in some logs, making joins difficult.

❖ Analytical & Technical Hurdles

- Users often interacted with campaigns on different devices/sessions, breaking continuity.
- Performance lags with large datasets
- Some KPIs were hard to represent visually in a way that made immediate sense

KEY TAKEAWAYS

Email Performance Is Strong

- High delivery and open rates show audience reach is solid. Reliable campaign infrastructure is in place.

Timing Impacts Engagement

- Activity spikes correlate with campaign launch days and Optimize send schedules for peak engagement.

Mobile Readiness Is Crucial

- Mobile traffic continues to grow. Ensure all assets are fully mobile-optimized.

Web Metrics Reveal Deeper Behavior

- Bounce rate and session duration help assess content quality and Cross-channel tracking adds strategic value.

Target Regions Show Growth Potential

- Top-performing regions reveal high-intent audiences. Localized campaigns could increase ROI.

CONCLUSIONS

- This project has laid the foundation for making smarter marketing decisions based on real user engagement and campaign data.
- This project bridged the gap between email and web data, enabling a more holistic understanding of customer behavior.
- We successfully measured key email and web KPIs to understand what's working and where improvements are needed.
- Consistent KPIs, cleaned datasets, and integrated insights allow us to refine targeting, improve content, and streamline reporting.
- Manual processes were a challenge. Investing in automation, dashboarding, and real-time tracking will enhance future efficiency.
- With well-defined KPIs and logic captured, this project sets a reusable framework for upcoming campaigns or analytics efforts.
